Forever...

Imagine if we told you we had photographs and a professionally-produced video of your great, great grandmother's wedding, but you could only choose one to look at. Which one would you choose?

Video is fast becoming the most important investment to consider when planning a wedding since it captures not only actions, but feelings and emotions as well. Let us capture each moment for you and immortalize them in a treasure that will provide a lifetime of living memories.

Remember and relive every precious moment of the most important day of your lives...your wedding day. See the moment you take each other's hands...feel the emotion of the warm kiss as you are bound as one, husband and wife. Experience the expressions, the laughs, the hugs, the togetherness and warmth of loved ones gathered to celebrate your commitment to each other again and again.

We can cover every moment of preparations to illustrate the build-up of excitement, to the moment your guests are waving farewell. We'll include just the right amount of footage in the final product so as not to distract from the main event. Music will be added in the right places to enhance each scene.

One option that is often overlooked but has become a favorite among couples who've chosen it is the Love Story. The couple is filmed together and then separately, describing how they met and ultimately, how they fell in love. This intimate narrative from both partners adds another dimension to your video treasure. The Love Story can be produced prior to the wedding to be played at the reception.

After the wedding day festivities and honeymoon, you'll both be pleasantly surprised when you view each other's comments—a sweet reminder year after year.

Once you've chosen the events you want to include, we'll take it from there. We'll provide you with an information guide in advance, that explains our requirements for camera placement, lighting etc., that you can share with others involved in your wedding to help the production run smoothly. Following our recommendations will ensure the best quality and content for your video.

When the Big Day finally arrives, our professional staff will communicate with your wedding coordinator on timing, entrances and each "mini" event that will take place, leaving you to enjoy your day. And of course, you can trust us to capture the moments that make your day special.

Capture your important event in a living video by Amelia Island Videography. Contact us now to reserve the date and discuss how we can help preserve your event for years to come.
